BYPASS DELAY SHOES BACK TARGET DATES

Continuing delays in the completion and processing of plans for the $11,000,000 Route 15 bypass east of Gettysburg have brought new postponements in the schedule for asking bids and awarding contracts for the big project.

State Highway department officials told The Gettysburg Times Thursday afternoon that "it is hoped" the awarding of contracts for the first unit of the 17-mile bypass can be made by October. The first unit is a 2½-mile section north from the Maryland line.

The next 8½-mile section, which will take the bypass across the Lincoln Highway east of Gettysburg, is also expected to be contracted for by the end of the year, according to current state timetables.

REST IN 1962

The awarding of contracts for the final 6½-mile section will have to go over into 1962.

District Engineer James Whalen told The Gettysburg Times the department still hopes to be able to have a large part of the bypass ready for use by the thirteenth anniversary year of 1963 but he agreed that the time is getting short and 100 per cent completion may not be achieved by that time.

The last previous timetable of the bidding, announced in mid-May, had promised that the first section would be bid by late June or early July. The second section bidding was set for late summer or early fall.

Whalen said Thursday the route for the bypass is essentially the same as that described at public hearings held here a year ago, although there have been changes in detail and two more interchanges have been authorized. He said the Taneytown Rd. crossing now has been designated for a diamond interchange and a similar type of interchange has been planned for the crossover on Rt. 394, east of Schriver's Crossroads.

The diamond type interchange is generally favored over the cloverleaf, he said, because it involves use of much less land.

Checking plans, completion of detail changes and the necessity for clearing plans with the Bureau of Public Roads because federal funds are being distributed to the delay in the project, The Times was told.

Loses Control of Car; Youth Hurt

A 19-year-old Hagerstown youth lost control of a 1956 truck while driving east on the Fairfield-Orranna Rd., three miles west of Fairfield Thursday afternoon and caused an estimated $600 damage to the vehicle and an undetermined amount to a culvert and a corn field.

State police, who investigated, said Charles S. McClellan was driving a truck owned by the Chambersburg Baking Co. when he lost control and ran off the south side of the highway, struck a culvert and ran into a corn field a short distance away.

McClellan was treated at Dr. James H. Hammitt's office for lacerations of the right elbow and contusions of the right arm.

DIAL PHONES IN THREE NEW AREAS AUG. 20

Sunday, August 20, is the date set for conversion of the Biglerville, Fairfield and York Springs to dial operation according to John Caldwell, Gettysburg district manager for the United Telephone Company.

With the change to dial service, direct distance dialing and ANC, the new all numeral telephone numbering system will be introduced in the three communities. The ANC numbering plan, adopted recently as the national standard for telephone numbering, is designed for greatest expansion of the nation's consumer dialing telephone network and ease and accuracy in dialing.

To acquaint telephone users in the three exchange areas with the new service United Telephone Company has arranged an extensive schedule of dialing demonstrations before various service clubs, church groups and civic organizations. In addition the phone company will conduct educational demonstrations open to the general public at a number of locations throughout the county.

REPORT DRAFT POOL BOOSTS FOR BUILDUP

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several states today reported they were increasing their pools of available draftees.

Selective Service officials in Washington tied the increase to the already announced 8,000-man August draft call, 2,000 more than this month's call.

Indications in the capital were that the administration planned to rely primarily on trained National Guardsmen and reservists in any defense manpower buildup. Larger draft quotas would be used only as a possible long-range support measure.

Some state Selective Service directors said they were acting on orders from Washington in building up the available supply of men eligible for induction into the armed forces.

A Selective Service official here pointed out that some increases had been expected—there were no draft calls for May and June with 14,000 men to be drafted in July and August.

SEND OUT CALLS

"I think perhaps some state directors may have sent out calls for more men in anticipation of further increases," he said. "But there have been no increases since the call of 8,000 was announced for August."

Selective Service officials said the state calls had no connection with the Berlin crisis.

Among the states reporting increases in their "ready pool" were Massachusetts, Indiana, Ohio, Arizona, Oklahoma, Texas, Georgia, Rhode Island, Illinois, Oregon, Tennessee, Arkansas and Maryland.

DRAFT INCREASE

The possibility that the draft will be increased exists.

For one thing, it has been operating at relatively low levels since the beginning of the year. When the increased draft call for August was announced, a Defense Department spokesman said the purpose was to help bring the Army up to its authorized power of 870,000 from its present 856,000.

The Pentagon has been answering all questions about draft quotas by saying they are determined on a month-to-month basis.

NO PENTAGON WORD

Selective Service headquarters said it had received no word from the Pentagon of any marked increases to be asked soon.

Speculation centered then on the possibility of early induction into federal service of a few Guard divisions together with individual members of specialized units of the ready reserves.

The ready reserves total more than a million men. A substantial part, the Pentagon says, can move out quickly when mustered into federal service.

signed to make the pickup of the astronaut did not do so because it developed engine trouble.

The first backup helicopter team, consisting of Capt. Phillip Upschulte of Quincy, Ill., and Lt. George Cox of Eustis, Fla., picked up Grissom.

The Marines reported that Grissom blew the hatch of his capsule prior to the time he was expected to and before the helicopter had hooked a line onto it.

10 SECONDS SINKING

The sinking time of the capsule, once it starts to fill with water, is about 10 seconds. The primary helicopter, flown by Lt. James Tex, with Lt. John Reinhard of Bloomington, Ill., even though suffering from engine trouble, tried to save the capsule.

Lewis and Reinhard were in radio voice contact with Grissom and said he gave no indication he was in trouble.

The astronaut requested that they wait a few minutes before starting the recovery operation while he made readings of his instruments. The copter hovered above about 11 minutes.

SAW HATCH BLOW OFF

"Then we suddenly saw the hatch blow off," Lewis related. "We were only about 10 to 20 feet from the capsule. Water began pouring in through the hatch. We couldn't tell whether water had started entering before that but we had no warning from Grissom before the hatch blew."

Reinhard said Grissom "swam out of the capsule and swam away."

ARABS REJECT

Iraq's Claims

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Arab League rejected Iraq's claim to Kuwait Thursday night and authorized planning for an Arab force to protect the oil-rich little sheikdom's new independence.

League Secretary-General Abd-el-Khalik Hassouna announced he will hold urgent consultations with his military advisers and representatives of the Arab states to raise a special force to replace the British troops sent to Kuwait after Iraqi Premier Abd-al Karim Kassem laid claim to the former British protectorate.

The league council overrode Iraq's vehement protests and admitted Kuwait as the group's 11th member. The council also directed Hassouna to take steps to safeguard Kuwait's independence against Iraq's annexation threats.

The Iraqi delegation, contending that Kuwait could not be a league member because it is part of Iraq, walked out of the council session before the vote.

JOE GIBBON

BLANKS CUBS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Could the Pittsburgh Pirates have come up with a big part of the answer to their pitching problems? His name: Joe Gibbon.

Until about two months ago, Gibbon was just a spot pitcher for the defending world champions. Sometimes 10 or 12 games went by before he would pitch.

Then ace right-hander Vernon Law, a 20-game winner last year, developed arm trouble. He couldn't pitch. Gibbon, 4-2 last year, found himself pitching regularly.

Today, the lanky southpaw has an 8-4 record. He leads the club in strikeouts with 95 in 112 1-3 innings. He's walked only 31. And Thursday night he twirled his first major league shutout, blanking the Chicago Cubs 4-0 on four hits.

"Now that I'm pitching regularly, I feel I'm pitching a lot better," the 26-year-old native of Hickory, Miss., said after the contest. "It was a big thrill to pitch a shutout, but I'm more interested in helping us win another pennant."

Bizerte Strife Involves West's Prestige In Area

Editor's Note — AP correspondent Andrew Bourguiba has spent much of the past four years in Tunisia and Algeria, covering the recurring crises in that part of North Africa France once dominated. In the following dispatch he surveys the implications of the latest trouble in Tunisia.

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

TUNIS (AP) — War flames sweeping embattled Bizerte are forging new Arab unity in explosive North Africa.

France's fighting retaliation to President Habib Bourguiba's try to expel the French garrison from the tiny base at Tunisia's northern tip has rallied the support of Morocco, the Algerian rebels and the United Arab Republic, all of whom have been at odds with the Tunisian leader in the past.

The battle around Bizerte is another serious threat to France's chances of retaining a foothold in the Tunisia-Algeria-Morocco crescent that once was her exclusive preserve.

THREATENS WEST

Western diplomats in the Tunisian capital, tensely watching the new crisis, believe that the entire West could lose its influence in the strategic area.

Bahi Ladgham, Bourguiba's No. 2 man, was grim when he summoned U.S. Ambassador Walter Walmsley Thursday.

"Now is your chance to prove how anticolonialist you are," he told the American.

CLEARCUT CASE

For Tunisia — and the Arab world — Bizerte is a clearcut case of an underdog trying to drive out a colonial power.

"They have put us before our conscience and God knows what we can do about it," an American diplomat commented bitterly. "After all, we too have bases abroad and France is our ally."

The shooting crisis apparently stunned the Tunisians themselves. Few of them had expected the dispute over the Bizerte base would reach such a tragic climax.

Informed sources claim Bourguiba did not want his blockade tactic to deteriorate into actual fighting.

Some diplomats are convinced that to Bourguiba the Bizerte incident was secondary to his venture into the southern Sahara sands, where a Tunisia column is marching to plant the flag on territory claimed by France.

Apparently Bourguiba decided to move swiftly into the Sahara before an agreement between France and the Algerian rebels could give all of the French Sahara to an independent Algeria. To divert the rebels, who use his country as a base, Bourguiba put pressure on Bizerte, diplomats say.

FRENCH STUBBORN

Some Western officials blame French stubbornness for the situation. They cite the example of American bases in Morocco that the United States agreed to evacuate when the Moroccans began to press. Many Western diplomats here believe France could easily have agreed to a prolonged withdrawal.

The French consider their action at Bizerte is purely self-defense and that they are protecting a base vital to the entire West, particularly at this time of crisis over Berlin.

CHARGE THEFT OF SCRAP IRON

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 36-year-old father of six, already on probation in connection with a savings and loan office holdup, was free on $5,000 bond today pending court action on FBI charges that he stole 340 tons of scrap iron from the government.

Robert L. Sweeney of Pittsburgh's Mt. Washington section was picked up Thursday and waived a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Fred Obley.

He is accused of stealing the scrap iron, worth $6,661 from the U. S. Naval Ordnance plant at South Charleston, W. Va., last February. At the time, he was an employee of the plant.

Just last Jan. 8, Sweeney was arrested for pulling off the toy pistol holdup of the Mt. Washington German Savings & Loan Association.

Police nabbed him 18 minutes after the holdup in a stolen car. All the money was recovered. Sweeney was given a suspended sentence of 10-to-15 years and placed on five years probation in connection with the holdup.

Johnson Ready For Cotton Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, will make the second defense of his NBA-recognized light heavyweight crown probably Aug. 29 against Eddie Cotton of Seattle.

The fight will be staged in Seattle's Sick Stadium. Pat Oliveri, Johnson's manager, approved the match here Thursday.

Agreement on the fight actually was reached several days ago. However, a delay resulted over Johnson's contract to give heavyweight contender Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., a return bout.

NURSE FINDS KENNEDY LIFE IS ORDINARY

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — "Why is it people don't want to admit they're average?" wonders nurse Luella Hennessey. "Why aren't they happy to be ordinary?"

"Happiness is laughter and being everyday and down-to-earth. Now you take this ordinary family, the Kennedys — and without waiting for the inevitable chuckling to subside, she's off on a subject close to her heart.

"The Kennedys are an example of how an ordinary family could be brought up — even without the money. The potential was there, but the Kennedy children have reached the heights they have because of their early home life. The President's great qualities stem directly from his character-building upbringing. It could serve as a guide for child-rearing today."

KNOWS FAMILY

If anyone knows about the Kennedy family life it's Luella Hennessey. In 1937, as a young nurse in a Boston hospital, she soothed 13-year-old Pat Kennedy through an emergency appendectomy. She spent the summer at Hyannis Port and later accompanied the Kennedys to London for two years while the father, Joseph P. Kennedy, was U.S. ambassador.

Although she returned to her hometown of Walpole, Mass., to take charge of the local office of the Visiting Nurse Association, she has never been far from the Kennedy life. At the drop of a safety pin she flies off around the country to take care of the President's wife and sisters and sisters-in-law when they're having babies. Of 19 births so far, she's missed only one — and that was because of a virus.

Miss Hennessey won't take pay for her Kennedy work.

"Friendship is more important than a few dollars," she says. Over the years the Kennedys have laden her with gifts.

TOP OFFICIALS MEET TO PLAN BERLIN NEEDS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in the ambassadors of Britain, France and Germany today to open urgent Allied conversations on proposals by the Kennedy administration for military preparations to meet expected Soviet pressures against West Berlin.

The United States, it is understood, intends to seek a fast buildup of conventional NATO military strength in Europe by the addition of several divisions to the Western European defense force. This would mean, some officials indicate, an increase to the long-planned goal of 30 divisions from the present strength of 22 divisions.

The immediate purpose of the conference with Rusk was to give the ambassadors detailed reports on decisions on U.S. policy made by President Kennedy at a National Security Council meeting late Wednesday.

FLY TO EUROPE

Saturday Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other high defense officials will fly to Europe for conferences with Allies leaders in Paris and London.

Early next week, probably on Monday, the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at Paris will get a report on U.S. plans and proposals from U.S. Ambassador Thomas Finletter, who is also flying to Paris this weekend. He is American representative on the Nato Council.

Next Thursday Assistant Secretary of State Foy D. Kohler will take a task force to Paris to meet with British, French and West German planners and make preparations for a Western foreign ministers conference in the French capital beginning Aug. 5.

KENNEDY'S PLANS

President Kennedy's plans are understood to call for an increase in over-all U.S. military strength with a prospect that one or more American divisions will be dispatched to Europe later this year. Kennedy is known to believe however, that total American strength must be raised to a point where it will be capable of meeting Communist challenges not only in Europe but in other parts of the world. His plans are expected to be disclosed in some detail in a report to the nation next Tuesday and a message to Congress next Wednesday.

ELLIOTT HURTS WITH INJURIES

LONDON (AP) — "How," mused Jumbo Jim Elliott today, "can one track team wind up with so many injuries? I'm just amazed."

Elliott, head coach of the United States track team that took on Great Britain at White City Stadium today and Saturday in its third international meet in a week, had to make four substitutions for his injured men going against Great Britain.

The hospital list reads like this:

SPRINTER OUT TOO

1. John Fromm, javelin thrower from Seattle — out with a pull in his side.

2. Bill Sharpe, hop, step and jump from Philadelphia — out with a bad leg.

3. John Ueles, pole vaulter from Quantico Marines — out with a bad leg.

4. Paul Drayton, sprinter from Villanova — out with a pull in his leg.

5. Jerry Siebert, half-mile of Santa Clara, Calif. — Ailing with a cold and a bad knee but ready to start the half-mile.

Dave Edstrom will take the place of Fromm in the javelin, Chuck Frazier will substitute for Drayton in the 100 and Earl Young for Drayton in the 220; Ralph Boston or Cliff Cushman will replace Sharpe in the hop, step and jump, and Paul Herzman will take over for Ueles in the pole vault.

YORK DRIVER DIES IN CAR ACCIDENT

YORK, Pa. (AP) — George Gregg, 28, Red Lion R. 2, died early today after his sports car hit an embankment and upset on a small country road about eight miles south of here, state police reported.

A passenger, John Plitt, 24, of York, was in satisfactory condition in York Hospital with head cuts.

KILLED IN CRASH

CLARION, Pa. (AP) — An auto crash in nearby Fryburg Thursday night killed Kenneth J. Schmader, 25, of Shippensburg R. 1, Clarion County.

State police said a car apparently driven by Schmader ran off Route 66 and smashed against an unoccupied parked auto. Another occupant of the car escaped injury.

STOCKS MIXED

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel and motors advanced in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was light.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .10 at 242.40 with industrials up .30, rails off .40 and utilities up .10.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule among most pivotal issues. Somewhat wider gains were made by higher-priced or more speculative issues.

Rubbers and mail order-retails also were a bit higher while rails, oils and building materials were mostly lower.

PENTZ URGES EARLY MAIL

"Let's stay away from the five o'clock shadow," was the way Charles W. Pentz, acting postmaster at Gettysburg, urged heavy mailers to cease mailing the bulk of their correspondence at the 5 p.m. rush hour.

Pentz encouraged everyone to unload nonpriority mail in the morning so that it can be processed during the "slack periods" in the afternoon. He noted that office surveys show that 80 percent of the 65 billion pieces of mail handled annually are deposited at 5 p.m.

Nonpriority mail, from the Post Office's point of view, includes: charity appeals, subscription solicitations, utility bills, notices, retail store bills, insurance and other premium due notices, state, county and local government mailing of licenses, bulletins and tax notices.

Undergoing basic training at Parrish Island, S. C., is Marine Private Ronald L. Shultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shultz, Orranna R. I. Private Shultz enlisted for four years under the general duty program. He is a 1960 graduate of Gettysburg High School.

"Nest-in-One" For Herbert Raymond

It wasn't a hole-in-one but a "nest-in-one" for J. Herbert Raymond Thursday afternoon while playing the Gettysburg Country Club golf course as a member of a foursome.

Raymond, driving off the tee on the No. 5 hole, blasted the ball about 200 yards into a cedar tree to the right of the fairway. After considerable time spent searching for the ball, Tom Cline, a member of the group, finally located the ball resting snugly in a bird's nest in the tree about eight feet from the ground. John Teeter, son of Atty. and Mrs. Daniel Teeter and a caddie for the group, climbed the tree to retrieve the ball.

Raymond was penalized a stroke for an unplayable lie to wind up with a net five for the par four hole. Jacob Bratcher and Donald Hershey were other members of the foursome.

LINES FROM WALT WHITMAN

As the years roll on we continue to find in the words and spirit of Walt Whitman interpretation of some of the choicest things in life which we have been either too busy or too stupid to see or understand.

I quote some lines from his "Leaves of Grass."

"This is what you shall do, love the earth, and sun, and animals, despise riches, give alms to every one who asks, stand up for the stupid and crazy, devote your income and labor to others, hate tyrants, argue not concerning God, have patience and indulgence toward other people, take off your hat to nothing house was also burned. The men managed to save the other buildings. When the water in the booster tanks was exhausted, they used water from a well. Intermittent flames were seen in the ruins during Sunday.

Pay Tribute To Lincoln: More than 150 members of the Washington, D. C., Educational Touring club took part Sunday afternoon in services in tribute to Abraham Lincoln and Gen. Oliver Otis Howard at the National cemetery and park here.

The program opened at the National monument where George H. Wallace, president of the club, spoke on "Why Lincoln Spoke at Gettysburg." Alvin C. Baker, superintendent of the national cemetery here, welcomed the group, while Dr. Frederick Tilberg, historian of the National park office, spoke on the history of the cemetery and monument.

Two Mid-Town Business Sites Changing Hands: Two local business properties are in the process of changing hands.

Col. Stewart H. Moyer and Kenneth M. Knox, owners of the Gettysburg News Agency, have taken an option to buy the John H. Bremm property on Chambersburg street.

Mares Sherman, York Street merchant, has purchased the Sachs apartment building, in which his store, 18 apartments, the F and T restaurant and the market house are located, from Luther I. Sachs, Locust Avenue, local contractor and builder.

Bisbing was rushed to the Warner hospital by State Troopers Charles J. Downey and David K. James in a state police car. Staub was treated at the hospital and discharged.

State Medical Survey Of Area Gets Underway: Plans for the medical survey of the Gettysburg and Shippensburg area farming communities announced several months ago as scheduled for this summer got underway last week when William G. Mather, of the department of agricultural economics and rural sociology, Penn State College, visited the area in order to fix the limits of the territory to be covered in making the survey.

The survey is to determine the extent to which rural people in the area utilize medical and dental facilities available.

Barn Levelled By Fire After Lightning Bolt: Lightning struck in the Littlestown area for the second time in three weeks early Sunday morning when the barn on the farm of Charles E. Bupp, Littlestown, R. D. 2, near White Hall, was fired.

The Alpha Fire company, Littlestown, received a call at 4 a.m. The call was delayed because telephone service to the Bupp home had also become disrupted, and a messenger had to be sent to town to summon the fire company. The blaze was visible for miles around.

The Littlestown firemen summoned the Bonneauville company, which responded with two trucks. The barn was burned to the ground. It contained this year's hay and wheat, which were recently harvested, but the livestock was saved. A chicken was found dead in the ashes.

THE DOCTOR AND THE SHIP

"The ship is sinking fast," they cried,

"Oh, what is our salvation?"

The doctor-captain then replied:

"We'll hold a consultation."

"What last resort can you suggest?"

They asked in great confusion.

The doctor-captain said: "... 'Tis best,

I think, to try transfusion."

"Her hold is full of water,
And We think it time to jump."The doctor-captain gave command
To man the stomach pump.Again they cried: "She's sinking sure;

Oh, sad will be our fate!"

The doctor-captain said: "To cure,
We'll have to operate."

Alas, she sank beneath the wave

With fifty souls or less.

"The operation," so he gave

It out, "was a success."

The doctor-captain loudly cried,

It was his dying breath:

"I little thought she would have died;

A relapse caused her death."

Dodgers Cut Reds' Lead To 1½ Games; Giants Snap
Cards' Streak; Phils Lose

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Second place Los Angeles hampered four home runs for a 10-1 breeze at Cincinnati Thursday night, shaving the Reds' National League lead to 1½ games with their fifth straight loss. The Dodgers swept the two-game series by thumping first Bob Purkey then Joey Jay, the two aces of the Reds' pitching staff.

San Francisco clung to third place with a 10-6 victory at St. Louis, ending the Cards' winning streak at five, while fourth-place Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 4-0 behind the four-hitter pitching of southpaw Joe Gibbon. Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 5-1.

Duke Snider, Willie Davis, Wally Moon and Norm Larker, all left-handed swingers, did the thumping for the Dodgers against Jay (13-5). Singles by Maury Wills and Moon, who drove in three runs, and Snider's homer wrapped it up in a four-run third inning. Southpaw Sandy Koufax (12-6) was the winner.

BLEW IT LEAD

San Francisco blew a 6-0 lead when Bill White's three-run double tied it for the Cards in the sixth inning. But the Giants then broke loose for four runs in the eighth on Harvey Kuenn's tie-breaking double and Willie Mays' 28th homer. That hung the defeat on reliever Lindy McDaniel (6-4). Rookie Dick LeMay (2-2) won it in relief.

Jerry Kindall had two of the Cubs' hits, both doubles, off Gibbon (8-4), who gave up three walks but struck out nine for his first major league shutout. Dick Stuart doubled home a first-inning run for the Pirates, and they added two more in the fourth on Bill Mazeroski's single off losing lefty Jack Curtis (6-4).

Joe Adcock hit his 20th home run and also had one of the Braves' three singles in a three-run first inning that beat Chris Short (3-2). Rookie Bob Hendley (3-2), a left-hander, shut out the Phils after Don Demeter homered in the first inning.

Texans Share Lead In Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Texans Don Massengale and Fred Hawkins shared a one-strike lead starting today's second round in the 72-hole $30,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Massengale, 24-year-old from Texas Christian, and Hawkins, 38-year-old El Paso pro, matched brilliant five under par 65s Thursday to pace 132 pros and 11 amateurs at the North Hills Country Club.

One stroke off the pace with 66s were Canadian Open champion Jacky Cupit of Longview, Tex., and former Wisconsin Open titlist Tommy Veech.

Bunched at 67 were former U.S. Open champion Tommy Bolt, Paul Harney, Canadian veteran Stan Leonard and Ohio State's Jack Nicklaus.

OTHER PACT NOT INCLUDED

Federal Judge Allan K. Grim, announcing his decision in Philadelphia Thursday, made no mention of the other pacts. The Justice Department, which had questioned the legality of the NFL-CBS two-year pact signed last April 28, said it would have no comment until it studied the judge's decision.

Both the AFL and the NBA were in doubt as to what the ruling could mean to them.

The NFL contract granted CBS exclusive rights to televise all regular season games played by the 14 NFL teams, with each team sharing equally in the television income.

The shift from the old federal-approved NFL tv program, which permitted each team to negotiate its own TV contract, came after the new American Football League had operated in its first season last year under an exclusive, share-and-share alike contract with ABC without a legal challenge.

SEMI-FINALS ON COURTS

CHICAGO (AP) — The No. 1 seed, a sweet-stroking Yale man, a Marine corporal and a brilliant teen-ager today formed the men's semifinal array for the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.

One semifinal match will be played today at River Forest Tennis Club and the other Saturday with the championship showdown of the weeklong tourney scheduled Sunday.

Today's semifinal sends No. 1-seeded Bernard (Tut) Bartenz, 33, Dallas, against Marine corporal Jon Douglas, 24, former Stanford quarterback.

The Saturday semifinal will pit Wimbledon finalist Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, who already has won a Wimbledon title although he celebrates his 19th birthday on July 27.

One women's single semifinal also will be played today, second-seeded Billie Jean Moffitt, 17, Long Beach, Calif., engaging Germany's Edna Budig.

The other gal semifinal test is Saturday's clash between top-seeded Karen Hantze, 18, Chula Vista, Calif., and Donna Floyd, 20, Arlington, Va.

Minor Loops Have Same Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Attendance at minor league baseball games is running about even with last year's, despite a reduction of five cities and the loss of Minneapolis-St. Paul to the American Association.

A home run in the first inning by Don Demeter, his eighth of the season, saved the Phillies from a whitewash.

The Braves started the game with a three-run first inning off Chris Short, who threw only one strike in his first eight pitches.

His third pitch hit leadoff batter Mack Jones.

Short was replaced by John Buzhard, who blanked the Braves through the sixth, and Frank Sullivan, who finished, giving the Braves two runs, one of them unearned.

The Braves' Joe Adcock, ended the scoring with a homer, his 20th, in the eighth inning.

FIGHT RESULTS

Los Angeles-Wayne Thornton, 162, Los Angeles, knocked out Buck Bellamy, 160½, Phoenix, 2.

COURT RULES AGAINST CBS TV GRID DEAL

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Justice Department had its answer from a federal judge today—the National Football League's new $9.3 million "package" television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System violates antitrust laws and is invalid.

Still unanswered for the nation's sports fan who thrives on his year-round menu of televised games is what happens now to similar contracts held by other sports groups.

In addition to the NFL, the American Football League, the National Basketball Association and the National Collegiate Athletic Association hold exclusive contracts with networks. Major league baseball always has shied away from package deals. Each baseball club makes its own TV arrangement.

NOT DISAPPOINTED

The Warriors owner did not express disappointment at Vanatta's decision.

"He never was offered the job," Gottlieb said. "He was one of the first applicants we had after Johnston resigned. I asked him to come here and talk about it, which we did the other night. Then I asked him to let me know if he still was a candidate."

Gottlieb quoted Vanatta as saying, "This was a very fine opportunity and I appreciate the consideration given me by Mr. Gottlieb. But in pro ball I would have been gone from my family much of the time. With Memphis State I'll have more time to devote to them."

Vanatta has three sons, he has been coach at Memphis State for five seasons.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)

Eddie Gottlieb, owner of the National Basketball Association's Philadelphia Warriors, says Bob Vanatta, basketball coach at Memphis State University, has withdrawn as a candidate for coach of the Philadelphia Warriors.

Vanatta and Gottlieb last Monday discussed the possibility of Vanatta filling the position vacated by Neil Johnston at the close of last season.

Gottlieb said Thursday he received a telegram from Vanatta saying he is withdrawing as a candidate because of probable long absences from his family during the NBA season.

Gottlieb had no comment about Fuzzy Levane, former coach of the New York Knicks, the most prominently mentioned candidate now for the position.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)

The Milwaukee Braves' Bob Hendley pitched a dangerous game Thursday night, leaving 10 Philadelphia runners on bases, but the Braves won 5-1.

The Phillies were unable to take advantage of the rookie southpaw, who walked six in his first complete game since being recalled from Louisville of the American Association.

A home run in the first inning by Don Demeter, his eighth of the season, saved the Phillies from a whitewash.

The Braves started the game with a three-run first inning off Chris Short, who threw only one strike in his first eight pitches. His third pitch hit leadoff batter Mack Jones.

Short was replaced by John Buzhard, who blanked the Braves through the sixth, and Frank Sullivan, who finished, giving the Braves two runs, one of them unearned.

The Braves' Joe Adcock, ended the scoring with a homer, his 20th, in the eighth inning.

'Bizzy Bee' Cleaners Open Enlarged Modernized Plant

The Bizzy Bee Cleaners, of Littlestown, will hold a grand opening Monday and Tuesday for its newly added facilities which will enable it to launder shirts and all type of uniforms in its remodeled plant located at 10 E. King St. Proprietor Bernard J. Nickey said that the new equipment was added "due to popular demand and now customers will be able to have eight-hour shirt cleaning service which was impossible before."

The new equipment, all of "Prosperity" brand, includes a huge washer, extractor and an all-cabinet shirt unit.

In addition to the new service, Nickey said they will continue other services offered by the dry cleaning establishment. That includes tailoring and alterations, reweaving, and custom-made suits.

One of the better-liked services by customers is the free clothes storage. Customers may send their winter or summer clothes to be cleaned, stored for the season, and then delivered upon request. An extra feature of the storage is that valuable furs are sent to Baltimore to a certified and insured fur storage vault.

BASEMENT VAULT

The vault in the basement of the plant is automatic and has a fumigation and dehumidifier system which shuts on and off to keep the desired temperature.

The proprietor's son, James Nickey, is in charge of rural deliveries. Nine trucks service customers within a 50-mile radius of Littlestown which takes them to points as far as Reisterstown, York, Arendtsville and Frederick. All the trucks are equipped with two-way radios which helps to "insure speedier and better service." Nickey said that customers may phone the plant, and the call will be relayed to the nearest truck to pick up the clothes to be cleaned and delivered within about two hours.

CONDUCT CLASSROOM

On the second floor is a classroom for drivers. Here they are taught courtesy, salesmanship and other features. The group meets every Wednesday morning to discuss problems that may arise on their route.

Truck drivers are Earl Mann, Merle Eckard, Wayne Trump, Al Barnhart, Leo Steinour, Edward Brown, Robert Baker, and Gene Courtney. The assistant manager is Gary Harner and manager James Nickey.

Routine service for rural customers usually takes three days. If the clothes are picked up on Monday, they will be delivered

UNION CHIEF IS SUSPENDED

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (AP)—United Steelworkers Local 1211 has removed Nicholas Mamula as its president, suspended him from the union and fined him $2,000. Mamula is one of the leaders of an insurgent element with the USW.

Members of the local Thursday night voted 161 to 144 to uphold a verdict of a union trial board which convicted Mamula on 14 counts of misconduct in office and violation of the union's constitution.

The action took place at a membership meeting in this Beaver County town.

Both the fine and suspension had been recommended by the trial board.

The charges on which Mamula was convicted were brought by Louis DeSena, financial secretary of Local 1211.

Mamula claimed the case against him was rigged. He said he would appeal to U. S. District Court in Pittsburgh.

Mamula is one of the leaders of a group formally organized in 1956 which opposes the administration of David J. McDonald, USW international president.

PHILA. HIT BY CONTROVERSY OVER PARKING

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A crackdown on illegal parking in Philadelphia is underway with some sections of South Philadelphia receiving three times the normal number of tickets.

Top police officials admitted Thursday ordering the crackdown, but denied it was the result of Mayor Richardson Dilworth's threat ticket 30,000 cars a night if City Council fails to approve his parking proposals.

The mayor has proposed a $40 a year annual fee to allow on-street parking 24 hours a day. Opponents of the plan say that a sticker on a car won't improve snarled traffic conditions.

Dilworth said the city has been lenient in the past only because some motorists have had no place to go.

"If the council refuses to face up to the problem," he said, "I will have no choice but to tag every illegally parked car."

The mayor's plan is this: The $40 annual fee will supply about $6 million a year which the city will match with $4 million of its own to build off-street parking areas.

Police, in denying they were following orders from the mayor, said their drive began Monday after the Philadelphia Transportation Co. filed a written complaint about rush hour delays caused by illegal parking.

Red Lion Woman Killed In Crash

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Marian L. Workman, 32, of Red Lion R. 1, was killed Thursday in a two-car collision on the old Susquehanna Trail near Shrewsbury, 14 miles south of here.

Kenneth Clutter, 21, of Brogueville R. 1, a passenger in the car with Mrs. Workman, suffered eye lacerations. Evans Anderson, 53, of Stewartstown, driver of the second car, suffered possible knee fractures and a broken ankle.

STATE VETS LOSING GROUND

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Veterans are losing ground in their battle for medical, educational and rehabilitation programs, claims the state adjutant general for veterans affairs.

Col. William B. Freeland made the statement Thursday in the keynote address at the formal opening of the 43rd annual convention of the Pennsylvania American Legion.

Freeland urged veterans to combat what he called public apathy toward these benefits which "they rightly deserve."

"Only through such organizations as the Legion can they regain the ground they have lost."

The state legion also presented the state's top awards Thursday.

Albert J. Dudash of Ambridge received a four-year scholarship for winning the state group's oratorical contest. Thomas Patterson of Lancaster was presented with a $250 check for winning the legion's essay contest.

TUNNEL BLAZE KILLS FIREMAN

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—A burning railroad tunnel collapsed Thursday night, swallowing an apartment house. A fireman plunged to flaming death.

The fire broke out late Thursday midway in the 2,000-foot Northwestern Pacific freight tunnel through Puerto Suello Hill in north San Rafael, 20 miles north of San Francisco.

Police believe the timber shorings may have been deliberately set afire by juveniles.

FIRE TRUCK FALLS

Fireman Fred Kinsler, 44, had parked his auxiliary fire truck over the tunnel 300 yards from the northern tunnel exit when heat caused Lincoln Avenue to crack and cave in. Kinsler and his truck plummeted 40 feet into the floor of the burning tunnel.

Minutes later an apartment house bordering the gaping hole was consumed by flames licking up from the cave-in. The 12-unit building toppled into the cavern. It had been evacuated before it caught fire.

The cave-in was about 100 feet long and 50 feet wide.

LIABILITY INSURANCE

HARRISBURG (AP)—State Police and Liquor Control Board agents will be provided liability insurance coverage while on duty under legislation signed into law Thursday by Gov. Lawrence.

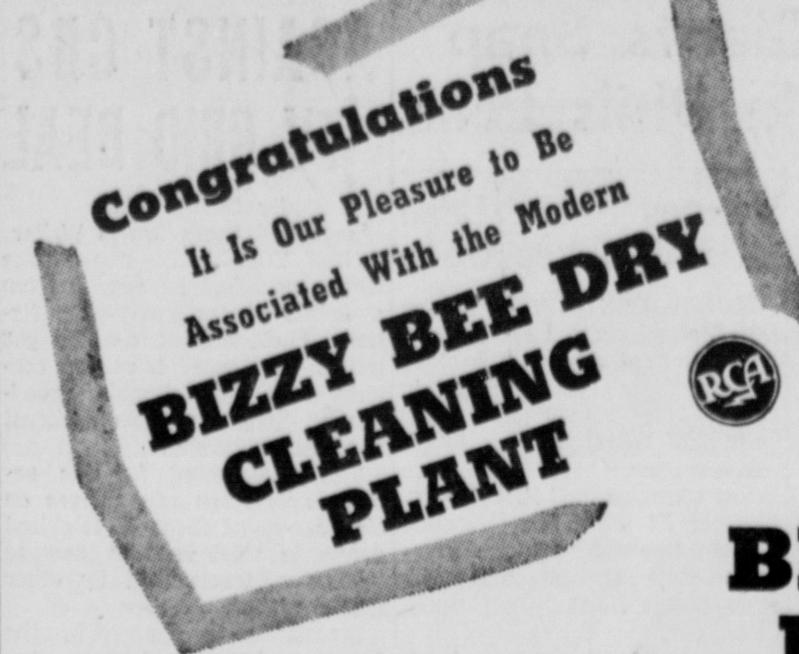

County commissioners are authorized to abolish occupation taxes under another law signed by the governor. The law also permits counties of the fourth through eighth classes to levy a 13 per capita tax for both county and institution district purposes.

Soviet-Chinese Wrangle May Increase Danger To West In Berlin Dealing

Last of a series of three articles dealing with the Soviet-China Relationship.

WARN CHINESE

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
Soviet and Chinese Communists have been and probably still are quarreling bitterly.

But, as Secretary of State Rusk has pointed out, there is little consolation in that for the West and no basis in it for new Western policy making.

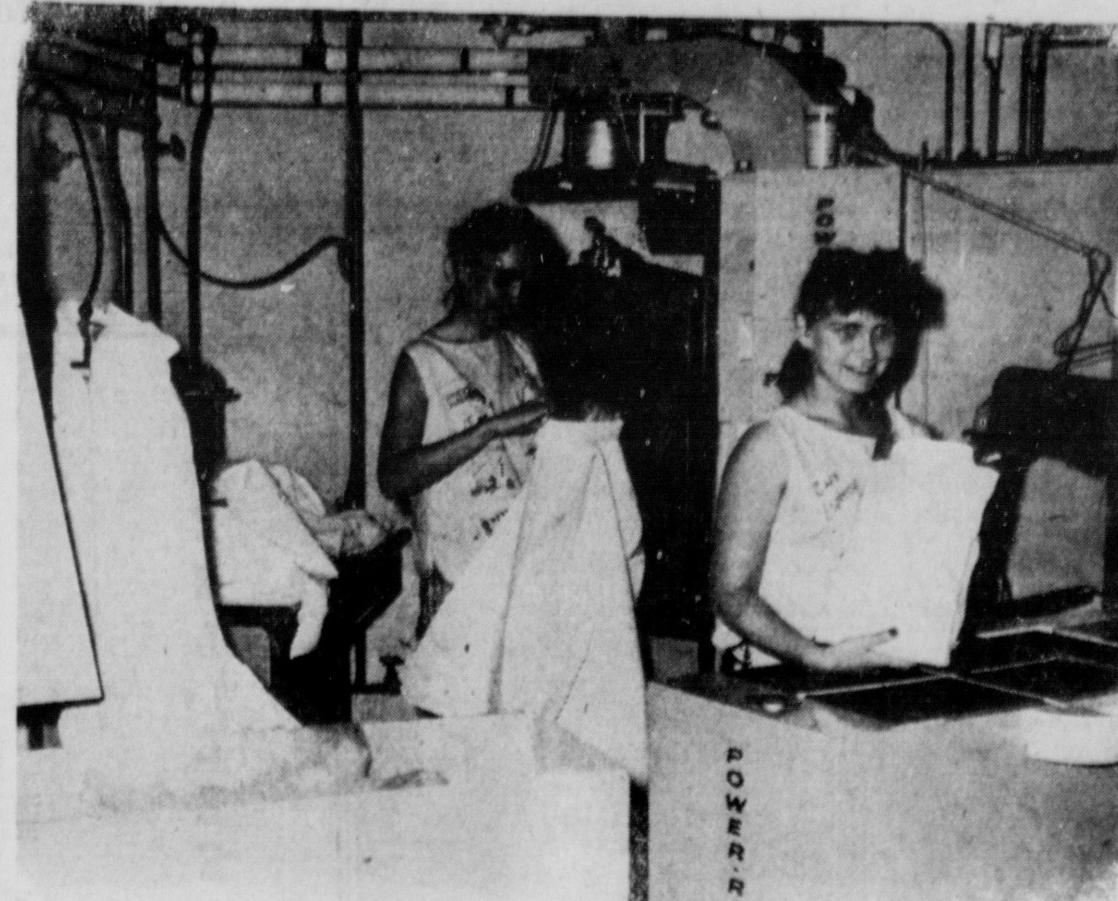

In fact, the quarrel may have increased the dangers now besetting the West from the gathering storm over the future of West Berlin and Germany.

MOSCOW ON TOP

In the Moscow-Beijing quarrel, Khrushchev at this moment seems to have the upper hand. But he has paid a price, too.

The Red Chinese have, by implication, accused Khrushchev of being soft on capitalism. Probably as a result of the quarrel, he seems not so soft on it now as he appeared some time ago.

The evidence at hand indicates the Red Chinese have knuckled under to the Kremlin on this point: Moscow is the boss of world communism and its pro-

Khrushchev has wrung from the Red Chinese an admission that Moscow is the supreme authority with regard to world Communist diplomacy and strategy. Red China, heavily dependent on the U.S.S.R. for its needs, is at Moscow's mercy. While it can resent and argue, Peiping cannot rid itself of Kremlin influence. It can hope at best to bring some influential Russians over to the Chinese way of thinking.

In essence, the goals of Moscow and Peiping are the same: World rule by communism. Neither can afford the appearance of a deep split. There had to be concessions and compromise.

The Red Chinese stress now that they accept "the principle of proletarian internationalism," meaning the rule that Moscow is boss of the world movement. They apparently concede a free hand for Moscow's diplomacy, including a free hand in such Asian situations as the Indochina crises over Laos and Viet Nam. Khrushchev may, if he chooses, use those situations as pawns in his intricate chess game over West Berlin and Germany.

Red China agreed that the balance of world forces is, as the Russians say, swinging in favor of the Communists — "The east wind is prevailing over the west wind."

Now that the Kremlin has these concessions, it may be coming through with its own side of the bargain.

Khrushchev's announcement of a stepup in Soviet armament, his threats against the West over Berlin, his saber-rattling in general in recent days sounded bellicose enough to satisfy even the impatient Red Chinese.

Khrushchev may want a victory to show the Communist world and Peiping he is right.

If the West backs down and permits it, Khrushchev will have won his point cheaply, and there will likely be pressure for new Communist thrusts, with all the related dangers.

If the West calls Khrushchev's hand, what does the Kremlin do next?

Therein lie the dangers of a Communist family argument.

SUN FAILS AGAIN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Brenda dumped more than 12 inches of rain on Florida the last time the St. Petersburg Independent gave away its "sunshine" edition of the paper.

That was July 29, 1960. The Independent gave another edition, the 212th, away, Wednesday when the sun failed to shine on the Independent building for 24 hours.

The paper started the practice in 1910 to promote St. Petersburg as the "Sunshine City."

Secret Service Agents List Job's Duty Chores

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-five men around the President constantly turn their backs on him—and get away with it.

These aren't ordinary men. They watch the people who watch the President. Carefully picked, rigorously trained, they are Secret Service agents responsible for the life and safety of the chief executive and his family.

What is a typical agent like? What tempts him into a job that keeps him away from home a lot, costs him money out of his own pocket for expenses, and expects him to put his own life on the line, if need be, to protect the man in the White House?

CASE STUDY

U. E. Baughman, chief of the U.S. Secret Service, took a reporter in tow, looked around, spotted Charles Hall as a rather typical agent, and even started the interviewing himself. Since Baughman doesn't want names and pictures of his agents printed widely, the name is fiction.

Hall is a well-knit chap with close-cropped, curly brown hair. He carries 185 pounds on a 5-foot-11 frame—and a .38 revolver on his left hip. He looks as if he could have turned in a pretty fair performance as a halfback in college. But he was an end instead, at Concordia College in western Minnesota.

"How old are you?" the chief asked.

PERSONAL DATA

"Twenty-nine."

"Married?"

Yea, and he has a son 4½ and another baby due in October. He rents a semidetached house in the suburbs.

Never while he is on duty is Hall without that gun on his hip.

EVENING CLOTHES

The matter of evening clothes points up a problem. Since Secret Service agents accompany the President and Mrs. Kennedy everywhere they go in public, to all sorts of official and social functions, they need a varied wardrobe. It's a uniform in effect, but they get no clothing allowance.

Hall invested $85 in a tuxedo. When he has to turn out in white tie and tails, for state dinners or receptions, for example, he rents them for $12.50 an evening—$12.50 of his own money.

When the First Family goes out of town, to Middleburg, Va., New York, Palm Beach, Cape Cod, Hall goes along. But he and the other agents don't live in the style of a president. They can't afford it, not on $12 a day to cover room, food, laundry, odds and ends—everything but transportation.

GRADE 10

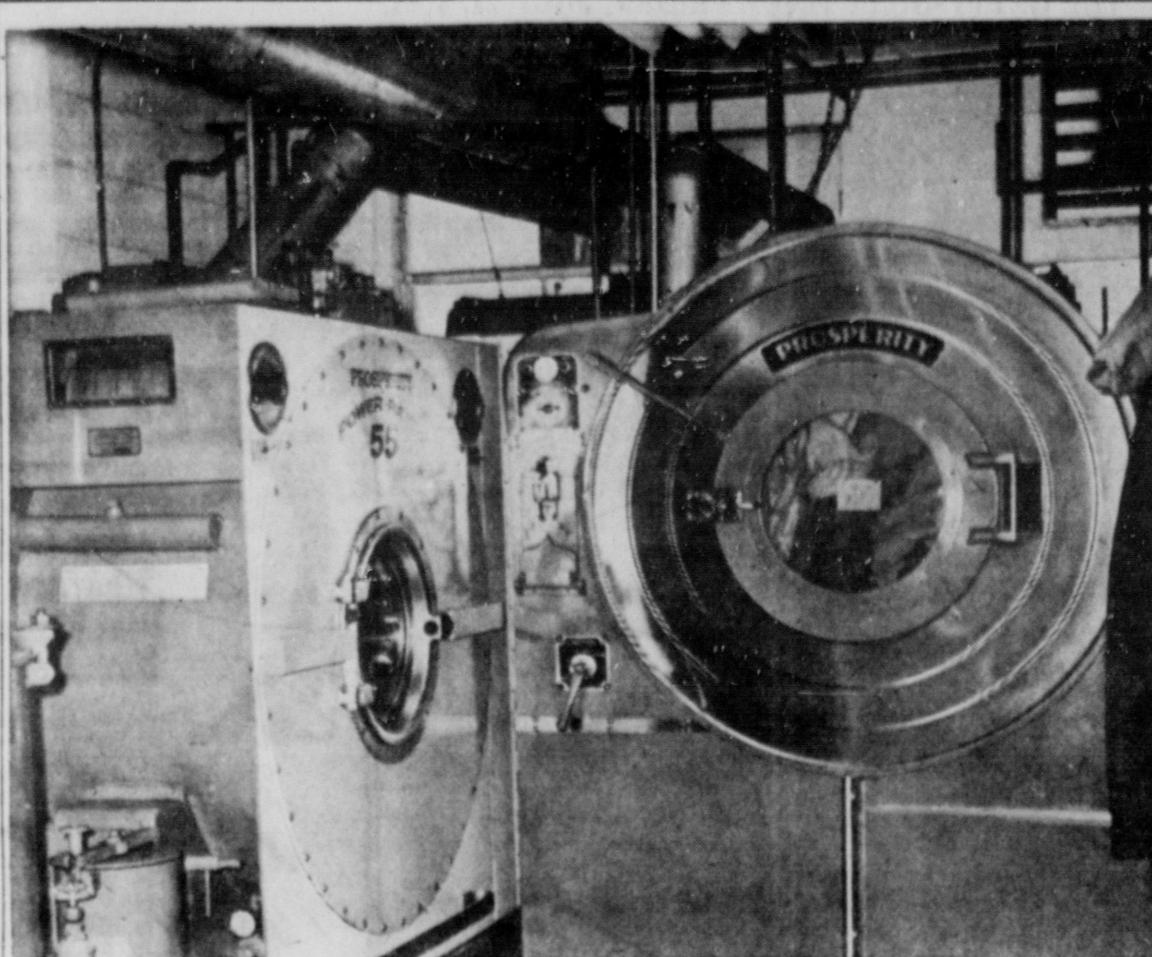

Hall is in Civil Service Grade 10. That pays $6,995 a year. In October he will have been in the SS three years and should go up to Grade 11 and $7,560. In time he might work up to $14,000 or $15,000 a year.

The job has rewards for Hall, even though he must be away from his wife and son frequently. "Partly," he said, "it's the wide experience you get and the type and variety of people you meet."

"You get a lot of satisfaction out of knowing the First Family appreciates the protection you give them. You sense it even when they don't come right out and say so."

BILL WEAKENED

HARRISBURG (AP) — Backers of a bill to require the mapping of anthracite mines say amendments that weaken the measure will be removed in a joint Senate-House conference committee.

Pictured is a new 55-lb. Prosperity power-ramic dry cleaning machine. The two-bath system washes and rinses automatically using a synthetic perchloroethylene fireproof cleaning fluid at the "Bizzy Bee" cleaners. (Times Photo)

LAUD MANAGER IN NEWBURGH WELFARE TIFF

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Joseph Med. Mitchell, chief figure in a Newburgh, N. Y., welfare dispute, was described today as having done a fine job while serving as manager of neighboring Marple Township in 1959-60.

A Middletown, N. Y., newspaper has reported that Mitchell, now city manager of Middletown's neighbor, Newburgh, was involved in a $10,000 auditing mistake while he was in Marple. It said also that the mixup played a part in his change of jobs.

Roy S. Benjamin, president of the township commissioners, who was on the board when Mitchell was township manager, denied this.

DID FINE JOB

Mitchell, he said, did "a fine job in administration and with the public. He could have continued his job if he had wished to." Benjamin termed the auditing report said.

error "an honest mistake and more embarrassing than anything else."

He said it came about this way: Seth T. Duey, the township tax collector, turned over to Mitchell a tape totaling $30,000 in tax collections and a check for $30,000 to cover it. Mitchell accepted the tape without checking and deposited the check.

Township auditors later detected that Duey's tax bills amounted to $40,000 and that through honest error he had totalled up only $30,000, Benjamin said. Duey at once turned over a check for $10,000 more.

Benjamin said Mitchell was then told not to accept the figures of the tax collector in the future, but to run a tape of his own as a check.

Town Water Rates Up To Legislature

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposal to permit the first water rate increase in Aaronsburg, Centre County, since 1844 is in position for consideration by the full House of Representatives.

The proposal, which would raise the borough's rates from about 62½ cents to $10 a year, was approved Wednesday by the House

State Government Committee. The 62½-cent yearly charge was written into Aaronsburg's charter when it was incorporated in 1844. Since then, no changes had been requested in the rates because the community obtains its water by gravity flow from a nearby mountain stream. The only cost involved is operation of the pipeline system.

The announcement said newsmen have been barred for their own safety, but conditions have improved.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

LISBON (AP) — Portugal will admit foreign newsmen and movie and television crews to Angola for the first time since the rebellion started in the West African territory, the Overseas and Foreign ministries announced Wednesday night.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

Swing me, Mommy, she says. Swing me high! All the way up to the clouds, if you can!

I smile and say, "I can't; not that high, darling." But still I push the swing and watch her soar skyward. Then she comes back to earth again, giggling, "That time I nearly touched the clouds, didn't I, Mommy?" I laugh and say, "Well—nearly, perhaps."

I look down at her, and for a desperately tender moment I wish that I could always keep that smile on her face, this laugh in her voice, the happy conviction that she nearly touched the clouds. Like all parents, I yearn to spare my child sorrow, anger, hurt of every kind. I yearn to keep from her the knowledge that none of us ever quite touch the clouds. And I know I can't.

So I am thankful—more thankful than ever—for the Church, and the lessons it is teaching her. None of us can give our children perpetual sanctuary. But all of us can help them find Faith.

Kassem's Kuwait Quest Has Reached Roadblock

Editor's Note—Webb McKinley, Associated Press chief of Middle East services, flew to Baghdad when Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem laid claim to the oil-rich sheikdom of Kuwait. Now back in Beirut, he gives an uncensored report of the dilemma facing Kassem.

By WEBB MCKINLEY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq has reached a roadblock in his quest for Kuwait.

When Kassem announced on June 25 that Iraq was claiming the enormously wealthy oil sheikdom on its southern border, there were two courses before him.

First, he could send his armor across the border and take Kuwait by force in a few hours, presenting to the world an embarrassing fait accompli. Kassem has denied he ever intended to do this and most observers in Baghdad believe him.

POLITICAL PATH

Second, he could follow a political path and by winning the support of other Arab nations, possibly gaining his objective.

Kassem may have felt that somehow he could bring enough pressure against the British to keep them on the sidelines. But when British troops were rushed to Kuwait at the ruling sheik's request, that hope was ended. And any movement of Iraqi troops into Kuwait now would have to contend not only with the British but also with Saudi Arabia and possibly other Arab forces.

The political road also appears blocked. Kassem picked up support from a few Arab states, notably Morocco and Yemen. But most of the Arab League is backing Kuwait.

ANGRY SPEEDERS

During the celebrations last week of the third anniversary of Kassem's revolution, his speeches brimmed with anger against the British.

FISH EXPERTS WILL REPORT ON FISHWAYS

These had set-in sleeves, often short. Coats were soft and caped. Gray and black with flashes of purple and candy pink made up the color scheme.

EXPERIMENTAL WORK

Most of their experimental work is being done at the Bonneville Dam on the Columbia River. They advised the Fish Commission that they have concentrated on shad "because we know that fishways which will pass shad successfully are more than adequate for other species such as elvers, catfish, walleye and striped bass."

Facilities at the Bonneville Dam make it possible to simulate practically any condition which would be encountered in the Susquehanna, they said.

The two-man team has been asked by the commission to determine what type of fish passage around the three dams would be most practicable.

Hearings Are Held On Textile Losses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The problem of restricting imports without hurting exports in the textile industry was discussed at a congressional hearing Wednesday, headed by Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa.

Initial witnesses told a House Labor subcommittee that textile imports from low-wage countries are causing plants in this country to close and a loss of jobs. They also said import restrictions are necessary.

NAVY FORCES FILMED FOR ZANUCK MOVIE

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

PARIS (AP) — The voice of Darryl Zanuck came over the telephone loud and clear.

I had expected to see him at his Paris headquarters, but he was off filming one of the actors for his new movie. The actor: The United States 6th Fleet.

Zanuck is duplicating D-Day at Normandy. He's staging the allied invasion once more for his production of "The Longest Day."

"I'm in Corsica shooting amphibious maneuvers of the 6th Fleet," Zanuck announced on the long-distance wire. "This is the first of three maneuvers the Navy is putting on, and I've got six cameras shooting the ships and these wonderful Marines.

INVASION CRAFT

"I'm very fortunate in that all the ships are the same as those that were actually used in the Normandy invasion — landing craft and all. I was afraid we would have to fake them or write around it somehow."

Zanuck said he would spend the summer gathering six battle sequences—he has already filmed a British paratroop operation at Cyprus. In October he'll start the human part of the story. He hopes to use many of the original locations, including Von Rundstedt's bunker in France, Rommel's villa and Southwick House in Plymouth, where Gen. Eisenhower directed the invasion.

Taneytown

MRS. FLORA LEISTER

TANEYTOWN—The Boy Scouts will conduct a scrap drive Saturday beginning at 8 a.m. At a recent review conducted by Legionnaire Clarence A. Harner, troop committee chairman, assistant Patrol Leader Samuel Bower was advanced to first class Scout, making the fourth such ranked on the roster. Thomas West was promoted to second class, joining eight others.

Plans for the annual outing of the Chamber of Commerce were outlined by Alfred Hiltzbridge at a meeting of that group Monday evening at Taney Inn.

The August 16 tour will include museums and other points of interest in Washington, D. C. Lunch will be in the basement cafeteria of the art gallery with dinner at Hogates Sea Food Restaurant. The day will be concluded with a ball game between Washington and Los Angeles.

Murray Baumgardner presented a progress report on the new industrial building under construction which will house the Taneytown Dress Company. Occupancy is anticipated about August 1, he said.

Neal Powell gave a brief report on the conference on the area redevelopment act and other federal assistance programs which was held in Baltimore July 10. The conference was attended by Powell and Mayor Raymond Perry.

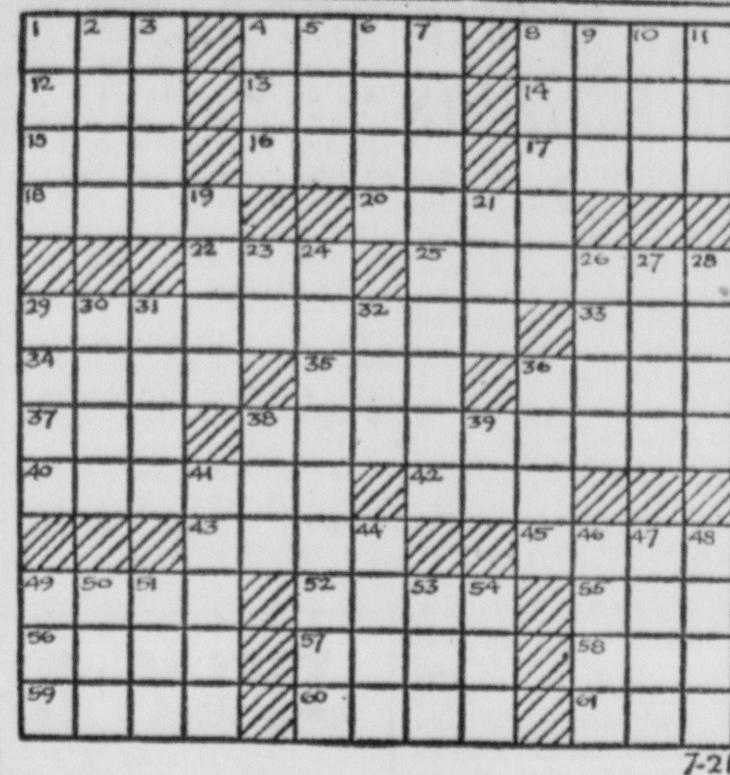

Stanley King announced that the American Legion film "Operation Abolition" will be shown in Taneytown sometime in September. This film covers the Communist inspired youth riots in California two years ago. This film is part of the Legion's active fight against communism.

Ty Cobb Made Breaks To Reach Baseball's Hall Of Fame As Super-star

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ty Cobb, the old Georgia Peach, was not a natural. He had certain gifts but he made his own breaks.

The late H. G. Salsinger, sports editor of the Detroit News, summed up Cobb in this manner after watching him for many years:

"Tyrus Raymond Cobb was the players' player just as Christy Mathewson was the pitchers' pitcher. A few others probably had more mechanical ability than Cobb, could field better, throw better, could hit the ball farther than Cobb, but none ever matched him for speed of mind and limb, for aggressiveness and daring, for flaming competitive spirit. He stands alone as the fiery genius of the game."

MAKES ASSISTS

"One day he threw out three runners at first base from right field in a single game. He was stirred by Leidy's eloquence, Cobb started practicing sliding. His hips would be raw and his uniform often spotted with blood but he learned to slide as no other player could."

Stirred by Leidy's eloquence, Cobb started practicing sliding. His hips would be raw and his uniform often spotted with blood but he learned to slide as no other player could.

POOR JUDGE

As an outfielder he was a poor judge of fly balls until Leidy tutored him by batting fungoes for the hour, in front of him and over his head.

Cobb changed his batting style ingenious and inventive. He had the look of an eagle and the soul of a thoroughbred."

Only one man, George Leidy, an older outfielder, apparently understood young Ty. He painted glowing pictures of big league life and pointed out the struggles that man like Mathewson and Honus Wagner waged before they became perfectionists. How Matty had no control at first. How Wagner was as clumsy as a bear fielding a ball.

Civil War Got Under Way On McLean Doorstep And Concluded In His Parlor

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Staff Writer

Most people march off to war. But not Wilmer McLean. He stayed home, and to his eternal dismay, the Civil War kept following him around.

It started in his kitchen; it ended in his front parlor.

The story of Wilmer McLean and his flight from the Civil War began on the afternoon of July 18, 1861, in his farmhouse not far from Manassas Junction, Va.

ENTERTAINED GENERAL

He was entertaining Confederate Gen. Pierre G. T. Beauregard when the big guns of the North and South began duelling across a little stream called Bull Run.

"A comical effect of this artful fight," wrote Beauregard with a literary chuckle, "was the destruction of the dinner of myself and staff by a federal shell that fell into the fireplace."

Three days later on July 21 the battle of Bull Run, the first major engagement of the war, erupted not a minic ball's throw from his farm. McLean threw in the sponge.

GOES TO APPOMATTOX

He packed up his family and retired to a quiet corner of southern Virginia where he was sure the war would never find him. His new home: Appomattox Court House.

There he lived quietly and presumably prospered until the morning of April 9, 1865, when he met a group of gray-clad horsemen riding down the Appomattox Road.

They were seeking, they told him, a well-appointed house where their distinguished companion, Gen. Robert E. Lee, might hold a quiet conversation with another general, Ulysses S. Grant.

OFFERS HONOR

McLean offered the best house in town, his own.

Thus it turned out that the man who entertained a Confederate general in his home on the first great battlefield of the Civil War played host to another in the final episode of the war when Lee surrendered to Grant.

The war was over but, wrote an eye witness, McLean's "real trials did not begin until the departure of the chief actors in the surrender."

RELIC HUNTING

"The relic hunters charged down upon the manor-house and made various attempts to jump Mr. McLean's claims to his own furniture.

"Bargains were struck at once for all the articles in the room, and it is even said that some mementoes were carried off for which no coin of the realm was ever exchanged."

After the war, his home denuded of furnishings, McLean tried to recoup his fortunes by peddling pictures of his house. But, when the excitement had died down, there wasn't much market for them.

Creditors auctioned off his property in 1869 and McLean wandered away to try his hand somewhere else, a beaten man who just couldn't get away from a just that started at his doorstep and ended in his parlor.

Answer, the bigger Atlas rocket needed for that is not ready.

Meanwhile, Capt. Virgil T. Grissom's flight is another step toward building reliability, and that could pay off, tremendous dividends in space knowledge, Dr. Robert Voas, psychologist and training officer for Project Mercury.

Money is lost and hopes dashed when satellites carrying scientific instruments are lost, fail to work, or fail to be recovered.

GUARANTEE RETURN

With man aboard, his return must be guaranteed.

Assured return means recovering not only the instruments but what a man's eyes and brains also learned.

A man can change his mind, or change quickly his plan for observing phenomena in space or on the moon. Automatic instruments cannot. And instruments cannot discriminate between the trivial and the important, as can man, the judge.

STARTED IN 1958

On Nov. 25, 1958 Khrushchev demanded the West get out of Berlin. President Eisenhower wouldn't hear of it. And on Dec. 31 the Western Allies sent the Russian a note saying so at some length.

Now hits, no runs, no errors. It is confusing to anyone it's only because he forgets he was through it all once before as the following series of parallel events the last time and now, will show:

ALLIES WILL CONFER

And not long after the Allies sent their note and the State Department put out its pamphlet in 1959 the Western foreign ministers agreed to meet to talk the whole thing over.

Now in 1961, after the Allies sent their note and it was announced the State Department would issue a "White Paper," the Western foreign ministers agreed (this was announced Tuesday) to meet to talk the whole thing over.

Since so far everything that has happened is a duplicate of what happened before, it doesn't need much imagination to suggest there will be some more duplicates.

For instance, the Western foreign ministers met with Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko starting May 11, 1959. The West offered a Berlin plan which the Russian rejected and he offered one which the West turned down.

DECIDE TO QUIT

So, after meeting from May 11 till August 5, the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Russia, having gotten nowhere, decided to quit.

Meanwhile there will almost surely be more notes exchanged—and more propaganda—since both sides in this dispute dress themselves in their Sunday clothes to look their best in the eyes of everybody.

There may be critical days ahead—toward the end of the year when Khrushchev's six-month deadline for a Berlin settlement ends—but meanwhile there should be some bewildering gabble-gabble.

WHAT HAPPENED?

NOVEL PLAN ON NEW INDUSTRY

HARRISBURG (AP)—A novel plan for promoting industrial development in Pennsylvania was approved Wednesday by the House State Government Committee.

The proposal would set up a Bureau of Economic Promotion whose purpose would be to encourage people with new products or improvements of existing products to come to this state and try them out.

The state would test the product and endorse it if it proves successful.

The bill now goes before the full House for preliminary consideration. However, since it requires expenditure of money, its next step most likely will be referral to the Appropriations Committee.

Since there is no money included in the budget for the program, it is expected that the Appropriations Committee would pigeonhole it.

SEE REVOLT ON REDISTRICTING

HARRISBURG (AP)—A Montgomery County Republican legislator said Wednesday the Philadelphia suburbs are ready to revolt against any attempt by the city's Democrats to include them with the city in any congressional reapportionment plan.

Rep. Edwin G. Holt said he made the reported efforts of the city's Democratic organization to take over the suburbs the major issue in his campaign last May 16 to fill the Montgomery County vacancy in the House.

Holt won 4-1 over his Democratic opponent.

"There is no question," he said in a statement, "that if the Democratic plan of redistricting is put into effect, there will be an overwhelming uprising against the plan by the suburban people, both Republican and Democratic."

There have been unofficial reports that Philadelphia Democrats have drawn up a Congressional reapportionment plan that would permit the city to retain its present six congressmen by adding portions of the suburbs to the present six city districts in order to give them enough population to warrant six seats.

Bowles Survives First Kennedy Family Quarrel

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington is sometimes like a country lane at night, with a lot of bright little eyes gleaming in the bushes, and a man can get chewed to pieces without knowing what hit him.

In the first big family quarrel
in the Kennedy administration,
Chester Bowles, the No. 2 man
in the State Department as undersecretary, has just walked down that lane. He was badly

chewed but managed to survive
— only temporarily.

Liberal Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., fervent supporter of the liberal Bowles, seems to this writer a little too optimistic in suggesting the survival is permanent.
He told the Senate the conflict involving Bowles "is all over."

DOOR OPEN

President Kennedy himself left the door open for it not to be all over.

Because of the toothmarks left in Bowles' prestige it will be interesting to see how effective he can be henceforth not only in dealing with foreign diplomats
but with people, who seem to include some of his critics, in the department.

For several days there were news stories predicting Bowles was going to be yanked out of his job by Kennedy and given an assignment as roving ambassador. What made the story sound authentic was the double
nature:

BOWLES' CRITICS

Some indicated the information critical of Bowles' performance as undersecretary came from people serving under him in the State Department (his boss, Secretary of State Dean Rusk has never figured in this)
and from people in the White House, meaning people close to Kennedy.

But one, suggesting Bowles had no intention of letting himself be bounced around, clearly pointed to the unnamed informants as men around Bowles. This could be taken as meaning Bowles had approved their talking, if he hadn't inspired them to.

This one appeared after the anti-Bowles stories. It said bluntly Bowles would get out of the Kennedy administration altogether
if Kennedy tried to remove him as undersecretary.

DENY RESIGNATION

Whether or not it chilled the anti-Bowles forces in the administration is not known but this is known: that same day Kennedy lunched with Bowles and the White House denied Bowles was resigning.

Then Kennedy at his Wednesday news conference said:

He had never asked Bowles for his resignation, always expected him to serve out the life of his administration, had complete confidence in him, and that Secretary Rusk had complete confidence in him too.

SHOULD STAY

Still, Kennedy hadn't said
Bowles wouldn't be moved out of his job as undersecretary. So a reporter asked him the obvious
question: Was there still a possibility Bowles might be shifted?

Kennedy said that as of now

he thinks Bowles should stay as undersecretary, that he has no
assignment, but that he will ask him if he thinks Bowles can fit
in better somewhere else.

That's a long way from saying
Bowles is in solid as undersecretary.

"CAN'T WASH HANDS"

Eichmann replied: "I cannot wash my hands in innocence today because retroactive laws in-criminate me."

Judge Raveh confronted Eichmann with several contradictions
and demanded explanations.

He noted the defendant in his petrial examination by Israeli police after his capture in Argentina 15 months ago had said he attended a meeting in September 1959 when extermination was discussed.

MISSSED MEETING

The record of the meeting
isted me as a participant but in checking everything else later I found I could not have been there because I was in Vienna," Eichmann explained.

"Are you sure?" the judge
asked. "It is important because it is correct, you knew all the ime what was in store."

Eichmann reiterated he was not at that meeting and insisted he first knew of the extermination plot when it was outlined at the Wannsee Conference. Then he said, he was caught in the mesh of wartime orders and had no other choice but to go along.

PRAVDA SAYS REDS AIM AT BERLIN PEACE

LONDON (AP)—Pravda said today the Soviet Union wants to settle the problems of Germany and Berlin at the negotiating table and the sooner Western politicians agree to this, the sooner will the black war clouds disappear from the horizon."

A Pravda article bylined Observer and broadcast by Moscow
radio said: "From beyond the ocean we can hear the mass beating of war drums in American newspapers. A number of leading statesmen and politicians, senators and representatives, have turned to the warpath."

Pravda is the official organ of the Soviet Communist party. Articles in it signed by Observer are usually taken to represent the official line.

WESTERN HOTHEADS

"Some hotheads in the West do not want negotiations on the West Berlin issue. They do not want to make any constructive proposals," said the article.

"They want to preserve at any cost the present high explosive situation in Europe and they threaten war, a third world war,
against anyone who tries to remove the delayed action bomb that is endangering the peace of the world."

"But we do not want war. The sabre-rattling provocateurs intimidate no one. They are merely pushing the world further along the dangerous road of an accelerated arms race."

SEEKING BODY
OF WORKMAN

CHARLEROI, Pa. (AP)—Skin
divers resumed dragging the Monongahela River near Charleroi
today for the body of a workman who disappeared under water after a barge flipped over at Lock
No. 4.

Police identified the man as William Rae Phillips, 21, of Gray-con, Ky., an employee of the Sprague and Haywood drilling firm of Scranton, Pa.

Phillips and Eugene Jackson, 25, of Monongahela, Pa., were working on the barge when it overturned Thursday during drilling operations for a new navigation dam at the lock.

Jackson swam to safety. Phillips was living in Charleroi with his wife and son pending completion of the drilling job.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Edward
Michael, 20, of New Kensington, who tumbled headfirst from the back of a pickup truck Tuesday,
died of head injuries Thursday in St.
Francis General Hospital.

Michael incurred the injuries in Clarion where he was attending summer classes at Clarion State College. He was returning to school from a softball game with several others.

SCHOOLS BACK KENNEDY PUSH FOR FITNESS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

School authorities across the nation agreed today with President Kennedy about the urgency of physical fitness for pupils. But most pointed out that existing programs equal or exceed the chief executive's recommendations.

The President, alarmed lest this turn into a nation of weaklings, has called for a minimum of 15 minutes of vigorously activity each day in every school in the country.

An official in the state education department in New York said pupils are expected to receive more time for vigorous exercise than the amount proposed by Kennedy.

HIGH SCHOOLS

High schools in the state are required to provide a total of 300 minutes a week of physical activity.

California law requires that all secondary schools throughout the state have a daily physical education period.

The physical education requirements in Florida schools exceed the President's recommendations.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Elementary schools by state regulation must provide 30 minutes daily for grades 1-6. Junior high school students receive a minimum of three 50-minute periods weekly and high school students a minimum of five 50-minute periods weekly for a minimum of two years.

Twenty minutes of physical education are given daily at all the grade levels in Seattle schools, with stress on calisthenics.

Darrel Smith, supervisor of physical education in San Diego schools, commented: "Mechanized living has made us softer, there's no question about it, but we're doing our best to counteract this in gyms and on playgrounds."

IN SAN DIEGO

San Diego's schools are ahead of the proposed minimum, Smith added. Secondary schools have 55-minute daily physical education and elementary schools 20 minutes in addition to recess play.

Dr. Harold J. Bowers, assistant state superintendent of public instruction for Ohio, said: "I haven't seen the President's message, but personally I think too much time is spent on competitive sports and too little on the mass of the students."

50 HOMES SPLINTERED

About 50 houses were splintered by the flood. Countless cars were battered beyond salvage. The waters chased an estimated 500 families from their homes.

Gov. W. W. Barron asked President Kennedy to declare Charleston and surrounding sections a disaster area, eligible for federal aid.

Kennedy replied he had ordered an immediate report. The disaster, said the President, "is of great concern to me."

On one litter-strewn stream bank, Mrs. Enid Bossie recounted her night of horror.

"When the water started swirling down the hollow, I called our preacher to have him pray for us. But there wasn't time to pray."

DEATH TOLL IN CHARLESTON'S FLOOD IS 17

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A weary band of mud-caked men began anew today a search they prayed would be fruitless.

A flash flood here already had taken 17 lives. They hoped a half-dozen people still listed as missing had escaped.

"It's our worst disaster," the Charleston Mayor, John Shanklin, said sadly. "We won't know for a long time just how bad it is."

One state official estimated property damage alone in West Virginia's capital city would amount to $5 million.

Dazed survivors started returning to the ravines where their homes once stood.

They saw what had happened when a torrent of water, fed by nearly six inches of rainfall, had swept through the valleys late Wednesday night.

Beauty Congress Gets Under Way

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—With all 58 delegates now assembled, the International Beauty Congress is officially under way.

Contestants from Europe, the Middle East and South America checked in Thursday and were greeted at planeside by the early arrivals—beauties from the Far East and the Pacific.

Also on hand was JoAnne Marie Dyer, 22, of Lima, Ohio, who represents the United States.

Today's big event—one of several preliminaries—is a fashion show luncheon. The winner will be crowned July 28 after four days of judging.

Robber Operates On Installments

BOSTON (AP)—A robber has collected $4,300 from the Beneficial Finance Co. on the four-in-installment plan.

He picked up his latest installment Thursday, taking $700 at gunpoint.

On July 20, 1960, the same thief robbed the same office of $900. He also robbed the office between the first theft and the fourth on the anniversary date.

FORCED PAROLE

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—You can be paroled from county jail in California whether you like it or not, under a bill signed Thursday by Gov. Edmund Brown. The measure repeals the law which said a county parole board needed a prisoner's consent to parole him.

Kennedy replied he had ordered an immediate report. The disaster, said the President, "is of great concern to me."

On one litter-strewn stream bank, Mrs. Enid Bossie recounted her night of horror.

"When the water started swirling down the hollow, I called our preacher to have him pray for us. But there wasn't time to pray."

Orrtanna

MRS. LUTHER M. WETZEL

ORRTANNA—Mrs. Mary Francess Hess, teacher of the Friendship Circle Class of the Methodist Church here, was hostess recently to nine members of her class for their monthly get-together at her home, Orrtanna R. D. Included on the program was a poem from the book called "The Prophet" by the hostess. Prayer followed by the president, Mrs. Carolyn Blescker, after which the secretary and treasurer's reports were given. The group planned for the smorgasbord picnic in the church hall July 29. Serving will begin at 4:30 p.m. The public is invited. Following the meeting refreshments were served and a social hour held.

There will be no August meeting of the WSCS of the Methodist Church.

The names of Mr. and Mrs. John Crowther, Silver Spring, Md., were unintentionally omitted from the group attending the birthday party at the Roy Chapman home recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCleat returned home Sunday evening from an automobile trip to Luray, Va., where they spent the weekend with relatives of Mrs. McCleat.

Mrs. Esther Baker spent the weekend in Hagerstown as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Davis.

but I'm inclined to think too many stress recreational, rather than physical fitness, programs."

James Hazlett, superintendent of schools in Kansas City, Mo., observed: "The key word in his message is 'vigorous.' Our elementary schools have two 20-minute play periods daily, in addition to the lunch hour. Play involving good wholesome games is conducive to vigorous activity.

We feel that, with allowance for weather, we come essentially within the suggested program."

Nice change from the usual jam filling!
